Flood Swirls On Des Moines

1,000 Work on Dikes; Record Crest Nears

DES MOINES (AP)—As hundreds of families fled their homes, volunteer workers labored furiously today to repel the biggest flood threat the Des Moines River ever has thrown at this city of 178,000.

As the river pushed rapidly toward a massive crest of 29 to 30 feet—three feet higher than any previously recorded here—the big question being asked on every hand was:

Will the dikes, rebuilt and strengthened after the disastrous 1947 flood which claimed two lives and caused millions of dollars in property damage, hold against the angry waters?

If they do not, city officials warned, a fifth of the city's area might be flooded and more than 1,000 families left homeless.

Worst In History

"This city is faced with the worst flood situation in its entire history," Mayor Joseph Van Dreser said in proclaiming a flood emergency.

The Des Moines River, swollen by torrential rains, flows directly through the center of the city. It runs through a secondary residential district and past the business, commercial and railroad areas. The main business district is out of reach of the flooding.

Girl Hurt In Route 9 Traffic Accident

A 20-year-old East Liverpool girl is in Salem City Hospital today as a result of a one-car accident on Route 9, south of New Garden, at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The injured girl, Carole Keener, received lacerations of the right arm and hand.

State Patrolmen said the driver of the auto, Lucille McKinney, 23, also of East Liverpool, lost control of her car when its wheels dropped off the berm and the vehicle overturned.

A 52-year-old Cleveland trucker was charged with reckless driving after his truck collided with another outfit at the intersection of Routes 7 and 14, east of Columbiana, at 1:05 a.m. today.

State Highway Patrolmen said the trucker, Stanley Mazintz, swerved to the right to miss another truck stopped waiting to turn into a truck stop and the Mazintz truck's trailer struck the trailer of the other outfit.

Considerable damage was done to both trailers, patrolmen said. The other truck-trailer was driven by Robert R. Cowden, 29, of Washington, Pa.

Judging Arena At Fair To Be Built

LISBON — Livestock judging events at the Columbiana County Fair Aug. 24 to 28 will be more comfortable for both animals and spectators because a sheltered judging arena will be erected this summer.

The County Fair Board has decided to build a 60 by 120 foot structure to keep animals and fairgoers out of the August sun.

Galen Greenisen, president, said building is scheduled to begin within the next month. It will be open at the sides and will have 12-foot long stalls on each side, allowing an area of 36 by 120 feet for the judging ring.

The exact location has not been decided, the board president said, but it will be conveniently near the cattle barns.

Much of the labor will be donated, Greenisen said. Harold Windham, vocational agriculture teacher, said his Future Farmers of America boys have volunteered to help, assisted by their fathers and 4-H club members.

The committee in charge includes Walter Johnson of Negley, chairman, Richard Stamp of RD, Salem, Ben Weingart of RD, Leetonia, and Curtis Hively of New Waterford.

The 108-page fair premium book now being printed by Dodge Publishing Co., will be mailed in about a month to persons who exhibited at last year's fair, Greenisen said.

United Local Bids Too High

School Board Defers Letting of Contract

United Local Board of Education Tuesday night reviewed bids for construction of a $444,000 high school at New Garden, but did not decide on a contractor.

Another meeting has been scheduled for Monday night at which time the board is expected to award the contract. Bids were opened by the board Monday noon.

Seven bids were received for the general contracting job, five for the combined plumbing and heating contract, and four for the electrical contract, Homer Dorr, clerk of the board revealed today.

However, the clerk explained, the total cost on the three contracts, plus an architect's fee, is in excess of the money the board has to spend.

It will be necessary to cut some of the original specifications to keep within our budget, he said, and these "alternates" were what held up board action in awarding bids Tuesday night.

Work on the new school building, which will adjoin the present centralized elementary school, is expected to begin in July and be finished for the 1955-56 session.

Construction of the school, which will accommodate more than 300 students, will remove United Local High School students from high schools in Salem, Lisbon and Goshen Union.

Under tentative plans the Board of Education will transfer freshmen and sophomores from their present high schools, but leave upper classmen to finish with their groups.

United Local district voters approved the $444,000 bond issue in the November, 1953 election. The bonds have been sold to a Cleveland firm at 2 3/4 interest rate.

President Says U. S. Must Defend Japan As Key To Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower summoned Republican and Democratic congressional leaders and his chief military advisers to a series of huddles today to lay a solid foundation for his imminent talks with British Prime Minister Churchill.

Thirty key Senate and House members were scheduled to meet with the President and Secretary of State Dulles and to hear a report by Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith on the deadlocked Geneva conference.

Those negotiations with the Communists on peace in Indochina are expected to figure largely in the Eisenhower-Churchill discussions which start Friday.

An hour and a half later, the National Security Council was ordered to a conference which the White House said was "necessary" by the forthcoming Churchill visit.

Still later, Eisenhower arranged to see Dulles in a more private conference.

Eisenhower turned to another facet of this country's Far Eastern problems—the future of Japan—in a speech last night to the National Editorial Assn. He told a convention of editors of some 5,200 weekly newspapers that Japan is the "key to the defense" of the western Pacific.

"So it becomes absolutely mandatory for us," he said, "that Japan be able to defend itself."

Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana Map Construction Of Toll Highways

CINCINNATI (AP)—The construction of toll roads is the only way the states of Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana can "keep abreast of demands of safe highway travel."

The states' chief executives declared yesterday.

Govs. Lawrence Wetherby of Kentucky, Frank J. Lausche of Ohio and George Craig of Indiana held a successful one-day conference to discuss mutual problems.

"A lot of good has come from this and can come from future meetings," Craig said.

Besides traffic and highway problems, the governors discussed Ohio River navigation, asking for replacement of outmoded dams and locks and three new ones.

They said in a resolution, which they drafted in longhand, the "present tax revenues for highway construction and maintenance" do not permit the states to keep up with demands.

The public is faced with three alternatives, they said. Taxes can be increased, highway congestion can continue with its staggering death toll, or more toll roads can be constructed.

The toll road alternative only "is sensible and in the public interest," they said.

But, the governors warned, the financial, legal and engineering costs "must be kept within the level of good conscience."

They ordered a joint study, to be financed by the three states, of the traffic situation in the areas between Cincinnati, Louisville and Indianapolis. The study will cover the need for bridges over the Ohio River and the possibility of joint bridge authorities to erect such structures.

The governors said the present locks and dams on the Ohio River

Lodge Jr., the council president for June, last night warned Guatemala against becoming a "cat's paw" of the Soviet conspiracy to meddle in the Western Hemisphere.

Lodge said the council by a 10-1 vote Sunday had showed "it emphatically believed that the Organization of American States was the place to try to settle the Guatemalan problem." The Soviet Union cast the negative vote, a veto, killing the move to refer the issue to the regional organization.

Asks Council Meeting Despite the Lodge statement, Guatemalan Delegate Eduardo Castillo Arriola delivered a letter shortly after midnight to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold formally asking for a council meeting.

Castillo Arriola wrote that in defiance of the council's cease-fire call voted last Sunday, "the aggressive acts have continued against my country, in the air, on sea and on the ground . . . from airfields and centers of operation situated outside Guatemalan territory."

The letter renewed Guatemala's charges that neighboring Honduras and Nicaragua were aiding the "mercenary forces" invading Guatemala, and asked the council to compel the two countries to "cease all aid or consent for such aggressive acts."

To Discuss Charges The same charges against Honduras and Nicaragua will be discussed late today by the five-nation Inter-American Peace Commission in Washington.

Hammarskjold was expected to deliver the Guatemalan request for a council meeting to Lodge sometime today for action.

Should Lodge refuse to call a meeting, any of the other 10 council members could force one by asking for it. Other non-Communist delegates on the group, however, showed no disposition last night to act against his opposition.

Lodge's statement said since opposing the Soviets had opposed referring the Guatemalan issue to the regional organization, "those who continually seek to agitate the Guatemalan question in the Security Council will inevitably be suspected of shadow boxing . . . of trying to strike attitudes and issue statements for propaganda purposes."

Guatemala May Be Striking At Invaders' Base

Scattered Fights Mark Revolt, but No Major Battles

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—The Honduran government said last night mysterious planes had bombed a town in Honduras. The report touched off speculation that invaded Guatemala may be striking back at the neighbor, from whose soil Guatemalan rebels launched their drive against President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's regime.

The Foreign Ministry said the planes bombed the town of Santa Rosa de Copan, key road junction 21 miles from the Guatemalan frontier. The terse announcement made no mention of casualties nor of how many planes made the raid.

Guatemala has accused Honduras and Nicaragua of being the bases for land and air "aggression" against her Communist-influenced government. Both countries have challenged Guatemala to prove the charges.

Demand Council Session

Guatemala pressed demands in New York early today for a second urgent session of the U. N. Security Council, charging Honduras and Nicaragua were continuing to aid the invaders. Council President Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of the United States said the Organization of American States, not the U. N., Guatemala could appear a "cat's paw" for a Soviet conspiracy to meddle in the Western Hemisphere.

Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, leader of the anti-Communist Guatemalan forces, moved his headquarters last night from Honduras to Equival, about six miles inside the homeland.

The insurgent leader said his forces are "not fighting the Guatemalan army or the Guatemalan people, only the Communist government" of leftist President Arbenz.

Pushes Fight Slowly

He said he was not pushing the fight faster because he does not want "unnecessary bloodshed." He said there had been no heavy battles with federal troops so far, but that there have been several minor skirmishes and some casualties.

Reports from various points last night told of scattered light action. Guatemala City reported a rebel plane strafed the California Standard gasoline tanks there and harassed a military encampment at the edge of the capital.

Informed sources in El Salvador said an airlift of U.S. citizens out of Guatemala would begin today, but dispatches from Guatemala City made no mention of evacuation plans. There are some 1,200 North Americans in the country.

In Mexico City, Guatemalan Ambassador Roberto Alvarado Fuentes said Arbenz' forces scored three victories yesterday. He said he had learned in a phone call

Farm Import Curb Vote Near

Sen. Gore Urges Passage Of Ike's Foreign Trade Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) declared today that Congress will deprive President Eisenhower of "minimum weapons he needs to meet and counter the growing threat of the Communist trade offensive" if it delays enactment of his foreign trade program.

Gore is leading a fight by 22 Democratic senators and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) to substitute Eisenhower's broader trade program for a House-passed bill to extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act as is for a year. The law died June 12 but can be revived.

Eisenhower last March asked Congress to give the act three more years of life and to grant him new authority to cut tariffs up to 15 per cent over that span. But Republican leaders sat on his proposal and he agreed last month to settle for now for a simple one-year extension with the understanding that Congress would consider his basic program early next year.

As Gore took the Senate floor to speak for enactment of the full Eisenhower trade plan now, another amendment—designed to cut down imports of farm products—was given some chance of adoption. In his prepared speech, Gore said a one-year extension of the law "means that for another year the President will not have the minimum weapons he needs to meet and counter the growing threat of the Communist trade offensive."

Gore added: "It means that our markets abroad will continue to contract. It means that for another year our customers abroad will wonder what our long-range trade policy will be, when finally we make up our minds."

"It means that the Soviet and Red Chinese trade bait will look more and more tempting to our allies as they grow more restive and uneasy, waiting for us to make up our minds."

Republican leaders remained confident they could beat down a Gore substitute when it comes to a vote, probably tomorrow or Friday.

But one of these leaders said privately he would not bet against adoption of an amendment sponsored by 14 farm state senators of both parties and aimed at curbing farm imports.

Under present law, the secretary of agriculture can ask the Tariff Commission to check on whether imports of a particular commodity are preventing domestic producers from getting the price

China, French Premiers Meet

Chou, Mendes-France To Discuss Indochina

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and Red China's Premier Chou En-Lai met today for a private talk that may determine whether there will be peace in Indochina.

The two leaders came to Bern to keep their meeting clear of the protocol and formality of the Geneva conference, but Mendes-France made it clear the subject of the conversations would be Indochina.

"Indochina is the forefront of my program," the French Premier told reporters before leaving Paris. "That is why I am spending all my time on it."

He declined to specify what proposals he would make to Chou, whose government is not openly involved in the Indochina conflict but has been accused by the West of supplying and equipping the Communist-led Vietminh forces.

The French Cabinet decided yesterday to seek the meeting after it was learned that Chou was leaving today for New Delhi to confer with India's Prime Minister Nehru.

Mendes-France took office with a promise to resign if he does not bring peace to Indochina by July 20. The meeting with Chou was seen as his first major move in that direction.

Up to now, the French Premier has been busy conferring with his own advisers, including Gen. Paul Ely, French Union commander in Indochina, and Jean Chauvel, head of the French delegation at Geneva.

Mendes-France also discussed the Geneva conference Sunday with Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and U. S. Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith when they stopped in Paris en route home.

At one time the French Premier had considered coming to Geneva to take charge of the French delegation. This plan was dropped after most of the top diplomats began pulling out.

Chou was expected to take off for India tonight in a special Constellation plane flown here from New Delhi. He will push on to Peiping after a three-day state visit at New Delhi.

The nine-party Geneva meeting will resume tomorrow.

(EDITOR'S NOTE — William L. Ryan has surveyed the French empire in Indochina, North Africa and in France itself, seeking the reasons behind the upheavals that threaten a keystone of Western unity. In an article yesterday he told of the terrorism in Tunisia. Today he tells of the smoldering fire in Morocco — where an Eisenhower expeditionary force landed in 1942 and the United States today has important air bases.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—He is the sultan of the realm of Morocco, but he is a weak, half blind old man, living in fear in his palace at Rabat.

Sultan Moulay Mohammed Ben Arafah is a reluctant ruler, brought to the throne as a puppet of the French. Few in Morocco recognize him as either a spiritual leader or a sovereign.

His story is a symptom of the ailments that plague the French empire. The political pattern of Indochina is taking shape once again. Morocco is smoldering. The situation may not be so immediately critical as that of France's other North African protectorate, Tunisia, but the elements of prairie fire lie beneath the surface.

Moulay Mohammed has been sultan nine months. He was put into this job because the old sultan, Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, declined to be a puppet all his life.

To understand the story of the sultans, you have to go back to 1912. The French were establishing their authority in Morocco. Hadj Thami el Glaoui Mezaoui, Pasha of Marrakech and ruler of the Berber tribesmen, threw in his lot with the French. He would remain unchallenged ruler of the whole region of Marrakech. In theory only, he was the instrument of the sultan.

The Pasha's fortune came from many interests all the way from mines to levies on brothels, plus a feudal system of taxation. When the sultan visited a city, he would announce how much money the city should give him. The Pasha called his caliphs and word was passed down. If the sultan needed 100 million francs, 200 million would be collected to take care of outstretched palms—including the Pasha's—all along the line.

In 1927 Sidi Mohammed became sultan after the death of his father. A shy boy, he had not expected to rule because he had two elder brothers. But the French sized him up as manageable, an instrument to ensure their grip on a land rich in mineral resources and teeming with possibilities for development.

Sidi Mohammed remained shy until 20 years ago, when the Istiqlal (Independence) movement, looking for a rallying point, began calling him "our beloved king." Sidi Mohammed liked that. During Sidi Mohammed's rule, the French ended tribal wars and united Morocco. But the sultan was not popular, nor did he get big ideas until after World War II. He leaned closer to Istiqlal while continuing a long standing feud with local chieftains, the caids and pashas, and particularly the Pasha of Marrakech.

Nine months ago Sidi Mohammed felt strong enough to balk at signing reforms announced by the French to appease Nationalist feeling. The French, using the threat of the Pasha's three million Berbers, deposed him and exiled him to Madagascar.

Morocco's native population of 8 1/2 million—about 8 million of them illiterate—had disliked the sultan as a money collector. The Berbers, Moors rather than Arabs, had paid little attention to him. But the moment the French removed him, the none-Berber population suddenly and avidly supported him. He was their hereditary spiritual leader and they insisted the French could not remove him. The situation worsened at once. There was an air of continuing crises, spelling danger to the mighty American air bases newly built in the country.

By day life went on normally in the flourishing cities built by the French. By night in dark alleys mysterious groups of three men were hiring poverty-stricken Arabs for a few thousand francs to murder and terrorize in the crowded slums. Nationalists tried to enforce boycotts of French goods. To stigmatize French tobacco, they would pounce on cigarette smokers and grind out lighted stubs on offenders' palms.

In the distance, French businessmen could see a threat of creeping paralysis. Some appealed to Paris for a change in policy, but old line colonists called for more firmness. That meant force, arrests, curfews, repressions. The more "firmness," the more terror. Responsible Nationalist leaders who might have checked the terror were in jail or exiled. New men, more extreme, took over. Moderate Nationalists were becoming less and less moderate, even though they admitted Morocco had few people able to administer what has become a modern nation in 40 years of French rule.

Twice the new sultan was almost killed in terror attacks, and now he prefers to stay within his magnificent palace, fearing to come out even for prayers in the mosques. Moslem Nationalists insist there is "nobody on the throne."

The Marrakech region, with its Berber population had thought itself immune but even there the terror is spreading. The octogenarian Glaoui friend of Britain's Prime Minister Churchill and a master Oriental-style politician fears for his life. He too, sulks in his palace.

Bombs defiled the Marrakech mosques, once in an attack on the Glaoui and once in an attack on visiting Sultan Ben Arafah. The Glaoui demonstrated what he would do if the French would let him meet the situation Moorish style. He walked up to a man seized as a terrorist, and with his own machinegun shot the man through the head.

But the terror grew. The Nationalists disavowed it, publicly deplored the use of murder as a weapon. What, then, was its source?

As France weakened in Indochina, extremists grew bolder here. Radio Cairo, apparently under Arab League sponsorship, hailed "liberation" in Indochina and called Arabs in North Africa to violence in the name of "Arabism." The Moroccan Communist party, 500 strong but extremely active, imported Moscow propaganda, much of it slanted against Americans and the U.S. air bases.

The French have brought in a new civilian resident general, Francis Lacoste, a Harvard-educated career diplomat. He told me: "Police action alone will not work. I come to Morocco in a spirit of love. Serving France and serving Morocco will be the same thing to me. The big air bases in Morocco are part of the defense of the free world so my mission is now more important than ever. Order must be preserved so this great weapon of resistance to Communist aggression can be kept safe."

Lacoste faces a tough job. If he cannot make concessions, extremists will exploit that and the situation will worsen. The French say their prestige will not permit the return of Sidi Mohammed, the raging issue today. That is a bridge burned.

Baumer, 32, was reported missing on a bombing mission over North Korea on Jan. 12, 1953.

Benson Risks It Again

Agriculture Secretary Benson's newest set of crop control proposals will freshen the hopes of every anti-administration politician from coast to coast and border to border.

Every time Benson risks his own and his administration's popularity by doing something controversial about agricultural policy, the opposition feels encouraged.

But every time he fails to be hung up by the
thumbs for his temerity in dealing with agricultural surpluses as a problem in economics
instead of a problem in politics, opposition
politicians begin to pinch themselves.

A mystery has grown up about this man with the pleasant face, the pleasant voice, the friendly smile and the utterly realistic ideas
about federal subsidies which have the effect
of encouraging overproduction.

Why doesn't he behave like the usual farm
bloc politician?

His newest proposals, which would cut back next year's wheat planting by 13 per cent
and keep the non-wheat acreage from being diverted to any other subsidized crop on pain
of becoming ineligible for government aid, are tough.

But they are utterly realistic. They take account of the fact that vast surpluses of wheat,
cotton, corn, peanuts and sugar sources have been and can be piled up year after year to take advantage of federal subsidies. They take account of Benson's belief, widely shared by farmers, that agriculture will not be in a healthy condition until its unwieldy surpluses
can be used up.

They are the result of war policies carried
over into peace years for political advantage.
Secretary Benson is risking his personal reputation and the Eisenhower administration's political fate on his belief that most farmers
are more interested in farming than in politics.

The key to the mystery about Benson is this:
he is not a farm-bloc politician.

Maine Likes Mrs. Smith

The total failure of Robert L. Jones to make a dent in Maine's rock-ribbed loyalty to Sen.
Margaret Chase Smith in the Republican primary last Monday had been predicted so confidently by every observer on the scene there is no news in her lopsided victory.

There does seem to be a moral in it, however.
Politicians are born, not made, and some are born females.

Mrs. Smith received about 4,000 more votes in 1948 when she first ran in the senatorial primaries than her three opponents combined.
One of these was the governor of Maine. In the November election, she then proceeded to run her Democratic rival for the senatorship
into the ground.

After that, no one was inclined to take Mrs.
Smith lightly in her role as a politician who knows how to handle herself in Maine and in the U. S. Senate. She learned as a teacher, a newspaper reporter and a businesswoman what her constituents like. As a member of Congress — she served three terms in the House of Representatives before switching to the Senate — she has suited most of the voters
in Maine.

The changing issues of the day have had little to do with her popularity. Maine likes Mrs. Smith for herself. Maine voters are willing to trust her judgment, which is the way
representative democracy is supposed to work
all the time and can work when a state finds
the right representative.

Four-Minute Milers

There was a time — and not long ago —
when a 10-second 100-yard dash was out of the realm of probability. Some even thought it was impossible.

Today, the 100-yard dash is consistently run in less than 9½ seconds. There are thousands of high school and college boys who can stay inside the 10-second limit.

The rate of progress in this particular race
was made possible by intensive improvement of every factor with bearing on the time consumed in it. Tracks were made faster. Starting blocks were added to the runners' equipment. Stop watches and procedure for using them were improved. Runners were encouraged to train more energetically and intelligently.

Somewhat the same thing has happened in the other major running accomplishment which was held to be improbable until Roger Bannister performed it a few weeks ago —
the less-than-four-minute mile. Bannister's time already has been shaded by an Australian, John Landy. It is likely that less-than-four-minute milers will be common in a few years.

Tests made on Landy by Swedish scientists suggest that oxygen absorption and lactic acid
production account for success in long-distance
running, plus perfect tracks, perfect timing,
perfect weather and perfect conditioning.

Who will be the first to run the 3½-minute
mile?

Some Scientists Have Unusual Idea of Loyalty

Generalizations are often harmful, and nothing could be more detrimental to the interests of the United States than any blanket condemnation of scientists because of the peculiar behavior of Dr. J.
Robert Oppenheimer, who was declared a "security risk" by a special board appointed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Publication of the official transcript of the hearings of this board reveals some very interesting comments on the subject of scientists
where loyalty or security matters
are involved.

JOHN LANSDALE Jr., now a member of a Cleveland law firm
but during the war a colonel in the Army, who was the top security officer for the atomic bomb
project, was being interrogated under oath on April 16 last, as follows:

Q. Mr. Garrison (counsel for Dr.
Oppenheimer) asked you some questions about the scientific mind
in relation to that interview that you had with Dr. Oppenheimer (1943) and you responded, I think,
that Dr. Oppenheimer's attitude might well have been a manifestation of the workings of a scientific mind, is that correct?

A. Oh, yes; of which I came up against many examples.

Q. Dr. Oppenheimer has testified here before this board that he lied to you in that interview. You would not say that lying was one of the manifestations of the scientific mind, would you?

A. Not necessarily, no.

Q. It is not a characteristic—
A. It was certainly a characteristic to decide that I didn't need to have certain information.

Q. No. But the question is, Mr.
Lansdale, you would not say that scientists as a group are liars,
would you?

A. No. I don't think persons as a group are liars.

Q. No.
A. I certainly can't overempha-size, however, the extremely frustrating, almost maddening, let me say, tendency of our more brilliant people to extend in their own mind their competence and independence of decision in fields in which they have no competence.

Q. You were undertaking at the time you interviewed Dr. Oppenheimer to investigate what you believed to be a very serious attempt at espionage, is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. And Dr. Oppenheimer's refusal to give you the information
that you asked for was frustrating
to you?

A. Oh, certainly.

Q. You felt that it seriously im-pendent your investigation, didn't you?

A. Certainly. But he wasn't the first one that impeded my investigation, nor the last.

LANSDALE WENT ON to say that he felt that, to the extent of his knowledge, Dr. Oppenheimer is loyal but added that, on the matter of "security clearance," had he been confined to the bare record he would not have granted it. He said:

"In other words, if Dr. Oppenheimer had not been as important as he was, I would certainly have stopped with the record and used
my every endeavor to persuade the general (Groves) that Dr. Oppenheimer ought to be dispensed with."

This is probably as good an example as any of the difficulty that the security officers had with some of the scientists at the laboratory
where during the last war the atomic bomb was being developed.

The special board which recently heard the testimony on Dr. Oppenheimer and which was headed by Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina and formerly secretary of the Army in the last administration, had this comment to make on scientists with particular reference to some who testified in behalf of Dr. Oppenheimer.

THE SPECIAL BOARD in its final report declared:

"The board has been impressed,
and in many ways heartened by the manner in which many scientists have sprung to the defense
of one whom many felt was under unfair attack.

"This is important and encouraging when one is concerned with the vitality of our society. However, the board feels constrained to express its concern that in this solidarity there have been attitudes
so uncompromising in support of science in general, and Dr. Oppenheimer in particular, that some witnesses have, in our judgment,
allowed their convictions to supersede what might reasonably have been their recollections."

What undoubtedly is referred to here is a conspicuous instance in which a scientist flatly contradicted
the testimony of two other witnesses, but the board chose not to specify publicly which ones were meant.

While scientists as a body cannot be condemned, some of their number didn't show up so well in the hearings as believing in whole-hearted cooperation with their government except as they themselves
interpreted the obligation.

Rumblings Of History

By TRUMAN TWILL

In due time, auto designers will come around to rumble seats again.
They can't wait too long to suit the survivors of the original rumble seat era.

Here was the all-time monstrosity of the whole auto age—
this collapsible cubicle which opened up like a scoop to catch either
an overflow of passengers, dirt,
rain water and frequently all three.

There was only one way to get into the things unless you could jump straight into the air eight feet, do an mmeemann turn and come down from on high like the Commandment. That was to climb
a tree, hang from one of the lower branches and drop in like a ripe plum.

The reason it was called a rumble seat was because it jarred
loose the brains of anyone ill-fated
enough to ride in it and forever
afterward thud loose brains made a rumbling noise like beans in a
can. Rumble seats preceded shock
also bers.

Victims of what came to be known as rumble — it is still alive and can be spotted by the way they carry their necks thrust
forward with the rest of themselves thrust backward. This was the position they sat in while riding in rumble seats when their bones were flexible.

Although they also were spoken
of jokingly as mother-in-law
seats, rumble seats rarely were used for this purpose. There were better ways for getting rid of mothers-in-law than catapulting
them into never-never land
from the rear-deck launching apparatus of a jazzpage roadster.

Rumble seats did have a certain fascination for the young at heart
when they paired off two by two.
But the fascination eventually was offset by the fact that riding in a rumble seat was too engrossing in itself to leave any time for being young at heart. It was a project of survival from the first mile.

Thit rider was exposed to all the elements, including ridicule. He was in imminent danger of having his neck snapped off like a Kentucky chicken's in burgoon season.

The wind was whistling past his tongue if he opened his mouth to cry for help. There were bugs in his ears and dust in his eyes.

Apples and abuse were rained upon his head. Whichever side of him was closer to the sun was cooked like a weenie in a rotisserie. He had a crick in his neck,
a misery in his back, no place
to rest his head and violence in his soul. Anyone who risked oscula-tion in a rumble seat was a bad

dental risk.

A fellow was wondering the other day what happened to rumble seats. He didn't know they now are made into entire automobiles
and called "convertibles."

The rumble seat was a kind of convertible, too. When you opened it and wiped off the sediment
from the last storm, it was a compartment for surplus passengers.
When you closed it, it was an act
of mercy.

Give the auto designers time.
Item by item, they are bringing back everything they took away—
the sun visor, the wire wheels. The runabouts and the touring sedan.
One of these days they will chuckle
sadistically and bring back the rumble seat.

Carbide lamps, hand cranks,
and clincher tires will follow
thereafter in rapid succession.
People have been having things too good. They ought to suffer a little.

Isotopes And Medical Treatment

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

John Jay Hopkins, president of General Dynamics Corporation, whose company manufactures submarines, recently made this startling statement:

"So great is the expansion
of uses of radioactivity in the field
of medicine, it is estimated that already the lives of more people have been saved by the atom than were lost in the Hiroshima and Nagasaki explosions!"

It is an important statement
about a subject of which most of us are ignorant. I know that when my dog, Brownie, was dying of cancer, I discussed some of the new drugs with authorities and discovered a few that had been tried on humans with some measure of success, but they had not been tried on dogs. The experts in this field are very conservative because they still know so little about what they have discovered.

ONE STORY I came across in this investigation is particularly interesting. It was found in a part of England that the cattle reached
a certain age, became ill and died.
A vast experiment was undertaken to discover the cause. Half the cattle were taken elsewhere and they thrived, but the cattle that remained
in their home meadows sickened.
Again they were divided into two lots and those who were removed got well and flourished. After thorough study it was found to be a soil and plant problem; that in the home meadows there was a total lack of cobalt in the soil.

When it comes to such a subject
as soil chemistry, I fear that my knowledge is so weak that I may not even repeat correctly what I hear, but it seems to be my recollection that the entire plant life of these meadows was changed and thereafter the cattle in the home
meadows flourished.

Some day the scientists may discover that the chemical unbalance
in our foods may be responsible for some of these troubles.

Hopkins reports:
"Through the use of radioactive phosphorus—which checks the over-production of red blood cells in the bone marrow—the lives of sufferers from leukemia have been prolonged. One of our most famous ethical laboratories is offering radioactive iodine in capsule form
for the treatment of thyroid disorders without the need of hospitalization or elaborate controls."

I DO NOT know how far this has gone and those who do know
are extremely conservative in their statements but an entire new field
is being opened up as a result of the use of rare earths and of the isotopes of atomic fission which may change the entire field of medical treatment, particularly as regards the various forms of cancer.

If three problems of our health
can be solved, enormous numbers of lives can be saved. These are the various heart ailments, the cancers, and the disturbances of the pancreas. Most of these ailments
catch us unawares and lay us low
without much of a fighting chance,
although so much is being done
by the physician and the chemist
as to give us great hope for the future.

The two major illnesses of the pancreas are diabetes, in which
insulin is discharged too niggardly,
and hyperinsulinism in which the

hormone is discharged too generously.

Of the two, hyperinsulinism is the more difficult to handle and
while it does not produce shocks
and comas, it does leave the sufferer without energy and often in a state of extreme nervousness.

IT MAY BE assumed correctly
that most alcoholics suffer from hyperinsulinism which literally drives them to drink. Insulin can be administered for diabetes but not for hyperinsulinism which is detected by glucose tolerance tests.
It is a tough illness to have.

John Jay Hopkins gives some evidence of the movement of isotopes in the curative field when
he notes:

"While the largest single employer of isotopic materials is industry,
the second largest application is in the field of medicine. Some perspective on our progress in the last few years may be gained from the figures on shipment of radioactive isotopes. In 1946 there were a total of 246 shipments, in 1953 there were 10,676. Other nations, particularly Canada, are also large producers.

It may be that the progress made
in these fields will not only add
years to our lives but will free
us from some of the most unpleasant effects of living too long, of pains and aches and fears which remove from old age the joy of living.

Foundations Probe

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The parliamentary crisis which has overtaken the House Committee on Tax-Exempt Foundations raises two questions of great public interest.

This committee, which was designed to continue and complete
the investigation started in the previous Congress by the Cox committee, was authorized last July Reece of Tennessee was designated as chairman, with two Republicans colleagues, Wolcott of Michigan and Goodwin of Massachusetts, and two Democrats, Hays
of Ohio, and Gracie Frost of Idaho.

Rene Wormser, a lawyer from New York with wide experience in trust and estate work, was chosen
chief counsel.

UNDER THE RESOLUTION creating the committee, it was directed to determine whether tax-exempt educational and philanthropic foundations are using their funds for:

1. Purposes other than those for which they were established.
2. Un-American and subversive purposes.
3. Political purposes, propaganda or attempts to influence legislation.

The attitude of the chairman and counsel from the beginning has been to recognize that foundations
have been a vast influence for good
in natural science and medicine;
that since they have ventured into
what is called social science there have been certain responsible criticisms; and that it is the job of this committee to hear those criticisms and to give the foundations
a full opportunity to answer them.

Hearings began with reports
from the research staff and a number of critics. They have now started to hear the foundations.

However, in the six weeks of hearings things have gone at a snail's pace, almost entirely because of the obstructive tactics of Congressman Hays. There have been days when his interruptions
have been almost continuous.

THOSE INTERRUPTIONS have consisted of questions relevant and irrelevant, speeches, charges of bad faith against the majority
members and the staff, and abuse
of witnesses. This has, of course, obstructed and confused the orderly presentation of testimony.

Things have now reached the point where it would seem impossible to continue the public hearings.

The first issue raised is simply
this. Is one member of a committee to be given the unrestricted
right to frustrate the purposes of a measure passed by the House of Representatives?

Once more and in a particularly virulent way we have the indefensible abuse of the power of congressional investigation. This time,
not by a committee or its chairman, but by a single member.

Another issue is raised by certain published criticisms of the committee. Those criticisms go so far as to question whether Congress has the right or that conditions suggest the need for any investigation of these tax-exempt institutions.

IT SHOULD BE realized by all concerned that tax exemption
means that the many millions spent by these institutions are vested with a public interest. For every dollar of tax exemption means another dollar raised from the taxpayers.

The proper presentation and protection of the interests of those taxpayers is in the Congress.

This is especially true since the funds available for spending by foundations amount to tens of millions annually. It is true, too, because the control of that spending,
especially by the larger foundations, is concentrated in a relatively few people.

The House should not only bring order into its investigations, but render a fair and full report in accordance with its expressed intention.

Once Over

Verdict Prophecy

Following is this column's prediction of the majority, minority and public report on the Pentagon-McCarthy case:

Majority (GOP) Report: We have completed
the boring task of going over the testimony
and consider it an ordeal beyond the call of duty. We find that photography is here to stay and that the close-up TV shot can seriously impede important federal business. We have reached the firm conclusion that justice can never be done in this case unless we find out
who started the thing and whether double martins featured the preliminary discussions.

We are unable to bring in any red hot verdict
against Joe McCarthy, but wish he could be a little more judicial in the pinches and cut out
the routines that tend to add three strokes per round to Ike's golf score. We find Roy Cohn guilty of little but a common error of youth:
the desire to steal second with the bases loaded in moments of high enthusiasm. We think Bob Stevens clearly illustrates what can happen when you bruise too easily and worry too much. We find nonsensical the idea that our great, able and valiant Army can have its morale destroyed by a rough cross-examination
of any colonel.

We find that both sides made more mistakes
than the Brooklyn Dodgers made in the last world series with the Yankees, and that it would have been better for everybody, including the TV public, if the hassle had been quietly
settled in a private fight in a dark basement.

Minority Report: We give the usual come-uppance to Republican conclusions and announce three opinions:

1. Our candidates in the fall elections have been immeasurably helped and it is our one regret that we couldn't have kept the TV show
going another three months;

2. We find everybody guilty as charged and favor that Joe McCarthy be exiled to St.
Helena, that Roy Cohn be publicly disciplined
for over-enthusiasm and that G. David Schine be suitably punished for making a better impression on his brief TV appearances than any U.S. senator did on the two-month run;

3. We believe that Robert Stevens is the Best Republican Secretary of the Army the Democrats ever had.

In conclusion we wish to report that, while the Republican members of the committee won all the aye and nay voting contests, during the hearings, the Democrats won more TV closeups.

Public Report: Any TV show that doesn't ring
in the Gabor Sisters or Sophie Tucker in a two-month program is a flop. We think Pvt.
Schine finished ahead of almost everybody else
in the cast and that any movement to hang a GI for taking a postponement of KP duty, if possible, can ever succeed in America. We think the TV hearings were the most colossal mistake of the age and the poorest idea Washington has conceived since the first Battle of Bull Run.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

We win few rounds in this global fight ring. So it's with pleasure that I take to the typewriter to report that we still have an infighter or two who can—and did—take one from the Soviets the other day.

This bout took place over the Decoration Day weekend, and the Russians got it solidly right between their propaganda eyes. They scared easily and showed not a little hysteria when they learned they too could lose. They rushed up their big muscle, namely the MVD plainclothes troops. That saved them for the moment.

What frightened the Russians were special delivery letters dispatched from the United States by the AFL's Free Trade Union Committee to 380 Sovietized North Korean and Chinese diplomats, assistants and even clerks at the Geneva, Switzerland, conference.

THE AFL'S LETTERS were, of course, written in the delegates' native language. The well-guided missives simply and sincerely urged each of the diplomats and their aides to desert the Soviets and come over to freedom.

I say these were well-guided missives because they were carefully addressed to each of the Chinese and North Koreans by name, to the proper hotels and correct room numbers. Just how this accurate list was obtained is the secret of Jay Lovestone, the AFL committee's secretary. Point is he got it and last week put those letters in the mail.

By the morning of May 30 the Swiss postmen were on their appointed rounds. And scores of young Communists who not only had never been beyond their barbed curtain but had never seen anti-Communist literature, read the appeal by the AFL. The biggest, the freest and the most influential of labor movements throughout the world.

THIS WAS AN appeal from free workers to men who supposedly represented a "workers' fatherland." By Sunday night the special guardian of the curtain, the MVD, was alerted. Its agents tried to make certain the postmen didn't ring twice at those hotels. But on Monday morning, despite their frantic efforts, more letters were delivered.

Each letter said: "On the occasion of your visit to the free world to attend the Geneva Conference, we wish to extend to you our sincere welcome."

"This is a unique opportunity for you to visit a country of the free world. You must have felt differently now after breathing the wholesome and free air of Switzerland. "Switzerland is a free country. Its constitution guarantees the right of political asylum. The free countries of the world, and especially the United States, all have public and private organizations offering legal and professional material assistance to political refugees."

"IN RECENT YEARS, many people have availed themselves of these opportunities to flee towards light and freedom. For instance, Mr. Korowitz of the Polish delegation to the United Nations General Assembly last year, after making his own decision to choose freedom, received a assistance from those organizations. He is now a respected professor of law in an American University.

"We are only interested in individual freedom and human dignity, which we firmly believe are what liberty-loving people should fight for. Therefore, what we want to do is to help you—as an individual.

"We have no intention whatsoever to use your knowledge to get any information. We are very familiar with the conditions on the Chinese mainland.

"We earnestly hope that you will give our humble offer your careful and sympathetic consideration. Salute!

("Signed) rFee Trade Union Committee, AFL."

MR. LOVESTONE was told by trans-Atlantic telephone that Chinese and Russian secret police immediately changed the rooms of some delegates and instructed the diplomats not to give their new addresses to anyone except their respective secretaries. Others were doubled up so they could spy on one another.

Even if no one breaks—the enemy's delegates and staff now know they have friends on the outside, if they want them. And the Russians are jittery. That's a mighty important round we took.

Don't Leave Welcome Mat Out For Burglars

Before you and the family take off on that summer vacation make sure to thief-proof your home. Illustrated below are six tips on how to safeguard your home against burglars. They're from crime expert John Mosler, who predicts the public will be burglarized more than 1296 times every 24 hours during July and August.

CANCEL all milk and newspaper deliveries until you return home. A cluttered porch is a come on sign to burglars.

INFORM postman about your temporary change in address. A stuffed mailbox is an invitation to burglars.

TELL A trustworthy neighbor where you can be reached. Ask him to call police if he notices suspicious activity.

DON'T LEAVE gems, cash, or valuables in your home. Take them down to the bank for safekeeping while you're gone.

NOTIFY police as to how long you'll be away. Neighborhood policemen will watch for any strange goings-on.

LOCK ALL your doors and windows. Don't just slam the door. Lock it with a key so that the bolt provides added security.

Mr., Mrs. Anthony Colian Jr. Honeymoon At Miami Beach

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Colian Jr., who were married Saturday in St. Paul Church, are honeymooning in Miami Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Colian, the former Bettijane Foreman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foreman of Prospect Extension, and Anthony Colian Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Colian Sr. of Ridgewood Drive, were married at 9 a.m. in a double ring ceremony. Rev. Fr. Richard Gaffey officiated.

Two bouquets of white roses and white snapdragons enhanced the altar which was decorated on either side with palms.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The portrait neckline of the snug fitted bodice was edged with softly pleated nylon tulle, and the long sleeves came to points at the wrists. The bouffant skirt of tulle was designed with a sweep train, and the fingertip veil of French illusion was attached to a matching cap. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and pompons showered with white streamers.

The attendants of the bride wore white nylon tulle gowns fashioned with strapless bodices and ruffled floor length skirts with matching stoles. Each skirt was trimmed with a different shade of braid.

The maid of honor, Miss Barbara DeRienzo, carried a colonial bouquet of blue tinted carnations which matched the trim on her dress. She wore a white half hat which was adorned with blue flowers.

The bridesmaids, Miss Anita Ricci of Youngstown, niece of the bridegroom, and Miss Joan Lesch and Miss Betty Bartholow, carried colonial bouquets of flowers tinted to match the pink, yellow, and green trim of their dresses.

Miss Marie Antoinette Foreman of Philadelphia, Pa., cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She carried a basket of mixed tinted carnations which repeated the colors carried by the other attendants. Her floor-length gown of white nylon tulle was trimmed with light blue, and she wore a matching headress. John Ricci of Youngstown, ring bearer for his uncle, carried the rings on a garland of fresh flowers.

Michael Colian served his brother as best man, and Thomas Foreman, Joseph Alessi and Arnold Bruckner ushered.

Mrs. Colian in light blue lace, and Mrs. Foreman in a pink dress, both used white accessories and wore white rose corsages.

A reception was held at the American Czechoslovak Club for 600 including guests from Youngstown, Mansfield, Michigan and Pennsylvania. A five-tier square wedding cake decorated the all-white bridal table.

The couple are graduates of Salem High School. Mr. Colian is associated in business with his father, and his bride is employed by the Lape Hotel. They will make their home at 182-N. Union Ave.

For traveling, Miss Foreman chose a white linen suit with white accessories. She wore a corsage of orchids.

Indians Get Only Four Hits In Losing 4-1 To Athletics

Sima, Dixon Combine For Win; Yanks Become Badly Worried

CLEVELAND (P)—A big New Jersey southpaw, who lost the only other game he pitched this season, took the juice out of the Indians last night as sixth place Philadelphia trounced the Indians, 4-1.

The winning hurler, Al Sima, has been wearing Philadelphia uniform for only 10 days. He was acquired from the Chicago White Sox in a three-way swap which also brought the A's relief specialist Sonny Dixon from Washington. Sima and Dixon, who relieved him in the eighth, held the Indians to four hits and one run, which was unearned, giving Philadelphia its second victory in nine meetings.

Respectable and 31 years old, Sima was drafted from Chattanooga last winter after three seasons with Washington where he won nine games.

He had been Cleveland Manager Al Lopez' first draft choice at the winter baseball meetings in Atlanta last December. But the White Sox' turn to choose a minor league player came just ahead of the Indians.

After last night's game, Lopez said:

"He was fooling us with a fork ball. It came in there with a big dip and he had pretty good control of it. I guess we did look a little sluggish, but you never look good when you're not hitting."

The lone Tribe run came in the first inning. Al Smith led off with a walk. He reached second on a grounder by Rudy Regalado. A passed ball by catcher Joe Astroth let Smith reach third, and he scored without a hit on a slow grounder by Larry Doby.

Burly Early Wynn, who suffered his fifth loss against eight victories, gave up nine hits to the A's. Bob Avila, used as a pinch hitter in the eighth, struck out. He will return to the starting lineup today for the first time since June 6.

He says, "My thumb is still a little sore, but I can swing a bat pretty good."

Stengel's Squad Not Playing Usual Ball

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (P)—There are not likely to be any general expressions of regret from the rest of the American League at news that the Yankees are becoming seriously worried. A more popular reaction probably would be that it's about time. The five-time world champions are not universally loved and admired.

A spy close to the scene reports that there are unmistakable traces of gloom among the athletes as they head toward still another crucial series with the leading Cleveland Indians out West this coming weekend. He adds that, for the first time, Casey Stengel's high rollers are beginning to look over-tired and a little edgy under the burning sun.

It seems to have dawned suddenly upon the champs that the race is drawing toward the half-way mark and they are five games out of first place with no help in sight from any source, including their farm system. They never before have been in anything resembling their present plight since Stengel began his record managerial run.

It is not so much that the Yanks are failing to win their share. They have, as a matter of fact, won 14 of the 20 games they have played since June 2. But, during the same period, the torrid Indians have set a 15-5 pace, thus adding a full game to their advantage, and the Chicago White Sox have shown no signs whatever of faltering. This is an unusual experience for the champions, and it appears to have been a disconcerting one.

Our personal prophet of doom for the Yankees places much significance in the fact that they no longer seem able to win double-headers. They have split nine in succession, and that, he says, is an accepted symptom of lack of pitching depth.

A close inspection of the record of Allie Reynolds, the veteran ace who must produce brilliantly if the Yanks are to pull out their sixth flag, does not hold forth any great promise. Though the Superchief holds a fine 8-1 victory record at this point, he is having his troubles. He has finished only 3 of 10 games he has started, and he has needed help in winning each of his last five decisions.

But for the comforting presence of Johnny Sain in his bullpen, Stengel plainly would be in poor shape.

Bush Named Rio Basketball Coach

RIO GRANDE, Ohio (P)—Herman Spencer Bush, 30, of Winchester, Ky., athletic director at Lindsey Wilson Junior College at Columbia, Ky., will be the new basketball coach at Rio Grande College, succeeding Newt Oliver.
Bush's appointment was announced today by the executive committee of the Rio Grande board of directors. He had been offered the job Monday night at a meeting of the committee in Jackson, Ohio, and announced his acceptance today.
Bush played four years of college basketball at Kentucky Wesleyan, where he received his degree in 1948. Later he got a degree in education from the University of Kentucky.
He is married and has one child. He is attending summer school at the University of Kentucky now, and will take over at Rio Grande in September.
Oliver resigned as Rio Grande coach to tour with star Bevo Francis. The two signed with the Harlem Globetrotters recently in a package deal believed to net them $30,000. Oliver's resignation followed a long series of disputes with college officials during which Francis was dropped from school rolls because of scholastic difficulties.

HOW ARE THE BUMS DOIN'?—Charley Dessen, left, gives pitching pointers to Jim Atkins. Dessen's Oaks top the Pacific Coast League and Oakland attendance is up. The manager was refused a contract for more than one year after the Dodgers were beaten in a play-off and won consecutive pennants in three years under him.

Rain Cancels Tuesday's City Games; Big Card On Tonight

Rain last night washed out three City softball league games, a Class B tilt and a pair of Little League encounters.

Foremost among the games postponed was the important Salem Tool - Bliss softball tilt in which the two play-off winners of last year were pitted.

Tonight, the card will be somewhat bigger as the County baseball loop also swings into action, making a total of 11 games.

The big game tonight finds Lisbon playing the high-flying Salem Merchants at Centennial Park. In the past two weeks, the first place locals have dropped two of their three closest rivals and hope to complete the effort this evening.

Lisbon and East Liverpool have been alternating in the second and third slots all year long. Lisbon is currently third.

Other games tonight find East Palestine at Liverpool, N. Springfield at N. Waterford and N. Gallilee at Kensington.

No class B play is scheduled tonight but three games are on tap at Kelley field in the girls' and city softball divisions.

Purdue's Don Albert Favored In NCAA Golf

HOUSTON (P)—A record eight-under par 136 qualifying score has established Don Albert of Purdue as a solid favorite to win the 1954 NCAA golf title.

The 21-year-old putting expert opened his drive for the 57-year-old title today against Bryan Honts, a member of a Southern Methodist University squad that unexpectedly won the team championship in record fashion.

In the 36 holes of qualifying play, the Methodists, paced by Floyd Addington, compiled a 572 team score that edged out North Texas State by one stroke. Defending champion Stanford finished sixth despite a strong rally.

SMU's 572 erased a 573 team record set by North Texas State in 1950.

The steady Albert, with a 69 on Monday, played in the final three some yesterday and came home with a 33-34-67 for the 6,840-yard, par 36-36-72 Brae Burn Country Club course.

His 136 broke the record 137 qualifying score set at Colorado Springs last year by Colorado's Merle Backlund.

Honts was four over par while qualifying with a 73-73-148.

"Mad Man" Marshall White of Chicago, who drives his No. 47

Oldsmobile with reckless abandon, will be back. Buck Safer of Toledo, who won the Memorial Day race, will also be back along with Jimmy Romine of Youngstown.

Time trials for both Wednesday and Saturday night's cards will start at 7 p.m. and first race is at 8:30.

Orioles Move To Baltimore Proves Unbeneficial

Team In Last Place 22½ Out

Yanks Lose Again As Stengel Is Bounced

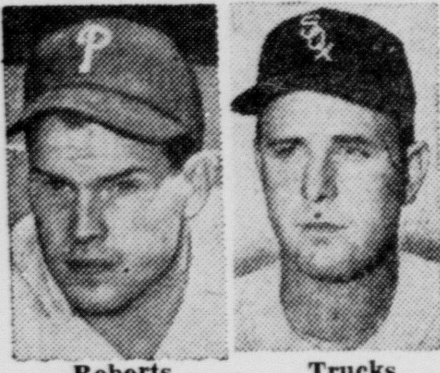

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Browns or Orioles, St. Louis or Baltimore, the sad fact seems to be that it's a last-place ball club.

More than five million dollars have been spent on the franchise since a year ago today. The net result in the won-and-lost columns is a game and a half improvement.

The Orioles have won 22 games and lost 42. A year ago today the Browns stood 21-44.

The Browns of 1953 set a major league record for consecutive losses at home. Starting June 3 they dropped 20 games in St. Louis before finally winning on July 7.

Roberts Trucks

The Orioles of 1954 lost their ninth in a row last night, 3-1, to Boston in 12 innings. It also was their ninth straight loss at home.

And they are in last place, just like last year.

The only outstanding difference is in the crowds. The Browns lost in privacy. More than 130,000 have suffered with the Orioles through their last nine defeats.

But the boos have started to echo in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium. Civic pride is beginning to wilt.

The Orioles are 22½ games behind the Cleveland Indians, who lost one game of their league lead last night. The Indians bowed to Philadelphia 4-1 while Chicago was beating Washington 7-5. This moved the White Sox within three games of the Indians.

The New York Yankees lost at Detroit 4-1 and stayed five games behind.

In the National League, the New York Giants continued to come up with hair-raising finishes, shading Milwaukee 3-2 on a bases-loaded single by Monte Irvin with two out in the ninth. Cincinnati mauled Brooklyn 13-1 for its fifth straight victory. Philadelphia defeated Chicago 4-1. St. Louis and the Pirates were rained out in Pittsburgh.

Baltimore's extra-inning loss came when Bob Turley walked Harry Agganis, the first man to face him in the 12th. Sammy White doubled and Billy Conso singled.

Al Sima did his ex-Chicago team-mates a good turn by pitching the Athletics to a four-hit victory over Cleveland. It was the first victory for the left-hander, who was traded 10 days ago. He drove in two of the A's four runs off Early Wynn, who suffered his fifth loss.

Virgil Trucks joined Bob Keegan as the American League's only 10-game winners in Chicago's victory over Washington. He needed help from Morrie Martin, however, as the Senators fought back from a 7-0 deficit.

Manager Casey Stengel was bounced for arguing for the third time this year as his Yankees bowed to Steve Gromek and the Detroit Tigers. The Yanks collected eight hits but couldn't score until the eighth.

The Giants trailed 2-1 going into the last of the ninth. A walk, a sacrifice, a single by Don Mueller and a double by Willie Mays tied the score. Then, with the bases loaded and two out, Leo Durocher sent up Irvin as a pinch hitter. He was hitless in his last 26 times at bat but he met the first pitch for a single and he Giants won again.

The Dodgers were helpless against a combination of two-hit pitching by Bud Podbielan and a 17-hit Cincinnati attack. Jim Greengrass hit two home runs and Andy Seminick hit one for the Reds.

Robin Roberts, who had to go 15 innings his last time out, struck out 11 and walked only two as the Phillies whipped Chicago. A two-run double by Smokey Burgess in the eighth clinched the contest.

Ohio's Most Colorful Tourney

24th Stage Public Links Golf Tournament Listed This Week

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's most colorful golf tournament, the 24th state public links championship, is scheduled this weekend at Dayton's Madden Park Club.

A field of 90 of Ohio's pay-as-you-go club swingers will participate in the combination match and medal play three-day event, with John Jendrasak of Cleveland defending the title he won last year at the Lost Nations club near Euclid.

Jendrasak grabbed the crown in a 72-hole medal play race, but he must fight it out in man-to-man competition this year. The field will play 36 holes Friday, with the 15 low scorers joining the champion in double rounds of 18-holes match play Saturday and Sunday.

E. O. Gifford of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Public Links Golf Assn., said today he had received 10 entries from Toledo, 14 from Cleveland, 2 from Youngstown, 6 from Steubenville, 4 from Akron, 5 from Columbus, 6 from Cincinnati and 18 from Dayton.

That adds up to only 65, and Gifford said he would continue to take entries at the Madden course until Thursday evening on a "first come, first served" basis until the 90 places have been filled.

Two dozen of the fee course stars will be eligible for the state amateur meet scheduled July 12-17 at the Sylvania Club near Toledo.

No public linkster ever has won the amateur, sponsored by the Ohio Golf Assn., but several have reached the finals in the match play classic. Complimentary practice rounds will be permitted the state amateur field July 6 and 7 at the Sylvania Club.

James A. Rhodes, state auditor, has been president of the public links group for half a decade, but he indicated today he would not be a candidate for reelection by the golf association. The directors meet Friday night at the Madden Park Club, with Rhodes presiding, and indications are that Earl Shock, veteran manager of the Community Course at Dayton, would be elevated to the presidency.

Back in 1930 when the public links feature was inaugurated, James (Scotty) Reston of Dayton, now Washington bureau chief for the New York Times, was the victor. Favored in the up-coming tourney is Jack Zimmerman, another Daytonian, who won the championship in 1942 and was two under par for the 36-hole two-course qualifier last weekend.

Qualifying entrants submitted to Gifford include:
Youngstown — Richi Urab, Al Krupinsky.
Steubenville — Ed Koski, Dave Patton, Joe Patton, Tom Cloran, Bob Firestone, Jim Bell.

Indianapolis Cops Seventh Straight

By The Associated Press
Indianapolis continued to whoop it up in the American Association last night, winning its seventh straight with a 3-2 verdict over Charleston.

The Indians thus maintained an eight-game advantage over their nearest rivals, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Relief pitcher Ted Wilks was the big Indian hero. He came into the game in the ninth with the tying run on base and struck out the two batters he faced.

Howie Rodemeyer bowed out in favor of Wilks after Bill Killinger's two-run homer and Sam Hairston's single.

In other games, St. Paul beat Toledo, 5-2; Minneapolis wallpiped Louisville, 12-5, and Kansas City trounced Columbus twice, 6-5 and 7-4.

DETROIT — Kenny Lane, 138, Muskegon, outpointed Elmer Lakatos, 135, Youngstown, 8.
PHILADELPHIA — Davey Galardo, 130, Los Angeles, outpointed Bolden Abrams, 133½, Philadelphia, 10.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By R. L. LIDE

The fish harvesting crew of the Ohio Division of Wildlife has to move fast to keep ahead of its work lifting nets and disposing of the undesirable fish population at Guilford Lake.

So far a total of 26,351 pounds of fish has been removed consisting of 88,340 gizzard shad, 35,726 small bluegills, 39,647 crappies, 302 suckers and 158 carp. 360 bass have shown up in the nets which were returned to the water after one of the pectoral fins had been clipped. Only 8 bass have been recaptured.

Many farmers have been utilizing gizzard shad for fertilizer while the other fish have been used for children's fishing projects and some restocking where stocking was needed. Some of these small fish gill themselves in the nets and this accompanied by hot weather and unavoidable delays in transportation, cause a heavy mortality which could be referred to as "Operation Phew."

OBSERVATIONS: Many people enjoying the recreational facilities now provided at Guilford in the new park pavilion and outdoor ovens, etc. . . People parking on the berm of the road on Route 172 near Guilford, watching the beavers at work towards evening. . . Many new homes being built in the rural sections by people who appreciate a few acres, elbow room, playground for children, saddle horses and ponies, away from industrial smoke and the dangers of city traffic.

Steve Lesick Leads Point Standings

Steve Lesick of Salem is still leading the pack at the Sharon Speedway at Hartford, O., as promoter Jim Novak reports this morning that the local driver is sitting on top of the point standings.

Lesick, who started the season comparatively unknown, has also built up quite a reputation in Western Pennsylvania racing circles. He is currently one of the top drivers in Pittsburgh's South Park Speedway, where he copped a thrilling first place last week.

In Saturday night's Sharon program, hard tops will be featured along with the regular drivers. A nine-race card is on tap.

Time trials Saturday will begin at 7 p. m. with the first event taking the green flag at 8:30.

EVER NOTICE the wild crabapples growing in pasture land where they have been pruned to various shapes and designs by grazing livestock? Some look like hourglasses, others like round balls or shaped like an umbrella.

The thought occurred to me that come next fall two of these will be transplanted right in my yard and I will shape them like an umbrella and let nature spread out the limbs.

In my opinion the expensive flowering crabs have very little more to offer than a wild crab in blossom, shade or beauty. One advantage the wild crabapples have is the many thorns that will prevent youngsters from climbing and breaking off the limbs.

BEAVERS ARE becoming a nuisance in some places within this county. Some farmers want them removed from their premises. There is no sure-fire method of removing them all. Tearing out their dams or dynamiting the dams often discourage them and cause them to move on.

But in doing this you only chase the evil which becomes another landowner's problem. Some people want them on their farms because of the waters they impound and furnish a source of water that did not cost one penny.

There must be inaugurated a beaver control program, according to my way of thinking, in the form of legislation, that provides a legal method of taking or a controlled trapping program along with other furbearing animals. Who would

HOW TO 'DUDE' IT

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN a girl from a midwestern village (Rantoul, Ill., pop. 2,367) goes down to the wide open places of Texas for a brief vacation? Well, tenderfoot Beth Anne Keenan headed for the Eagle Rock Ranch club in Wimberley, Tex., to live the life of a dude as soon as school let out for the summer. Once there, Beth Anne took to the cowgirl life as if she had been born to it. She donned a broad-brimmed hat, fancy western shirt, levis and a pair of hand-tooled boots. Then she learned to walk in the rolling gait of oldtime cowpokes, how to saddle a bronc and how to keep from falling off her mount once she was on. She also helped with some of the chores at the ranch. Wait until she tells those kids back home.

Woman Wants 18 Million For Illegal Confinement

DETROIT (AP) — Miss Mary W. Speers, 74, wants more than a million dollars for each of the nearly 16 years she spent in Michigan mental institutions.

Her attorney, Eugene Krasick, filed suit for $18,500,000 yesterday in Circuit Court. The city of Detroit, Wayne County, the state of Michigan, four doctors, and officials of the various institutions were named defendant.

Miss Speers, a dignified, stately woman, was committed as a mental patient in 1936 while held in jail on a bad check charge. She was released in 1952 on orders of Circuit Judge Lila M. Neuenfeldt, who ruled her commitment had been illegal.

Movie Tells Story Of

Tool, Die Industry

The vital role the tool and die industry plays in American industry was stressed in a movie shown to fellow Rotarians by Victor Zerbis when the Rotary Club met Tuesday in the Memorial Building.

The film was a tribute to the skilled workers, many of them to be found in Salem shops, who fashion the tools and dies used in mass production methods.

Mr. Zerbis, program chairman, is owner of United Tool & Die Co. on the Canfield Rd.

IDENTITIES BODY

KENTON, Ohio — The Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation has identified a man found Sunday in the Scioto River as Bernard Durkin, 50, of Kenton.

Tractor Rodeo Set For August 27

LISBON — Farm boys will test their skill in maneuvering farm equipment over a narrow obstacle course in the second annual tractor rodeo to be held Aug. 27 during the 109th Columbiana County Fair.

The competition is for members of the Columbiana County 4-H Tractor Maintenance Club, and Charles Gause of Hanoverton, advisor, said many of the 52 members will take part. Last year's event was won by Jack Vincent of Salem RD.

Gause said eliminations will be held at the fairgrounds about two weeks before fair time.

Combines will be discussed at the next meeting of the tractor club July 7 at Shaw and Bates, farm equipment dealers west of Lisbon.

Gause, who represents 4-H tractor clubs in 16 northeast Ohio counties, will meet with other advisors in the state July 16 at Columbus.

Baton Contest

other participants will appear here from many sections of the United States.

Salem will enter two drill teams; along with three girls in open competition and several beginners.

Among the local entrants will be Carolyn Lewis, 15, who has been twirling for five years. She has won 35 medals and two cups and, in addition, was named "Miss Majorette of Columbiana County" last year. She has won eight first places in twirling and two in strutting.

Two other Salem girls who will enter open contests are Susanne White, 9, who is attempting her first year in the open class after participating in the beginners' division last season, and Dianne Wright, 7, who has won 17 medals and two trophies. Dianne has won three first places in strutting and two in twirling. Suzanne won her only beginners contest last season.

Two units of the local Sylvesters, organized here May 4, also will participate. The younger group of 20 girls is led by Miss Wright, and Miss Lewis and Bonnie Zimmerman lead the older 15-girl group.

The junior Sylvesters feature drummer Franklin Roosevelt Copacita and two four-year-old mascots, Tara Donaley and Judy Zeigler.

The local girls are instructed by Miss Sylvia Guarnieri of Grove City, Pa., who is Pennsylvania's baton twirling champion. The Sunday contests will be under the direction of Tony Fortunata of Youngstown, eight times national champion.

Other well-known champions also are expected to attend the event. Miss Idora Park Majorette, 16-year-old Ruth Nethery of Cleveland, the three Dreyer sisters of Pontiac, Mich., who have won more than 11 trophies and 50 medals, and two drill teams from Grove City, Pa., are among the scheduled performers.

Tickets are available from members of the Sylvesters, American Legion band members, the Hoppers Tire Shop and the Lape Hotel.

The park basketball court at times will be used as a bandstand for Quaker City American Legion outdoor summer pop concerts.

Guatemala

from his capital that they had routed the rebels at Gualan and Chiquimula, near the Honduran border, and had counterattacked at the big port city of Puerto Barrios, a prime rebel target.

Claim 3 Towns Seized
A rebel communique said anti-Communist forces have occupied three Guatemalan villages and knocked out three bridges, two of them near the vital rail town of Zacapa.

The rebels also claimed to have cut the Pan-American Highway in Guatemala near the El Salvador border. Reports from El Salvador said the highway was closed at the border point.

Private advices from Guatemala said the town of Bananera, near Puerto Barrios, was in rebel hands.

Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge reported from Guatemala City that interest there was centered on the battle building up for possession of Puerto Barrios.

Rutledge said there was growing belief among Guatemalan officials and even rebel sympathizers that the invasion had proved a dud. He said a reporter who talked to Arbenz yesterday found him confident and seemingly unworried.

The dispatch said hostility towards the United States was growing in the capital, with both the press and radio accusing the U. S. government of masterminding the invasion.

The Guatemalan government imposed its ban on press telephone calls to and from the censorship-blanketed country. The government gave no reason for the move but officials said the newspaper calls were interfering with government business.

workers turned out last night to help build the levees higher.

Two major trouble spots developed, both in southeast Des Moines. Water was pouring through a break in a levee left for a railroad track and workers were busily trying to plug the gap with sandbags.

The second spot was near the Scott Street bridge, where the Des Moines and Raccoon rivers meet. Debris piled against the bridge and the water coursing against the levee, gnawing away large chunks of dirt.

Four bulldozers were in action just north of the City Hall bulldozing a low section of the dikes. If water came through there, city officials said, it might flood the City Hall, where flood headquarters is located.

The direct peril to Des Moines was the latest major development in a solid week of continuing flood crises throughout northwest and north-central Iowa.

The threat, however, had eased at Sioux City, where the emergency was declared ended yesterday, and at Mason City, in northern Iowa. Evacuees in both towns were moving back to their homes.

The crisis also had eased at Fort Dodge, Webster City, Boone and other central Iowa towns, but the most serious flooding since 1947 was expected at Waterloo and Cedar Rapids, in northeast Iowa on the Cedar River, Saturday and Sunday.

Ohio Apiarist To Talk To County Bee Keepers

LISBON — Handling bees and summer apiary management will be discussed by Wendell Smith, deputy state apiarist, at a twilight meeting of Columbiana County beekeepers Thursday night at 7.

Persons interested in the tour will meet at the farm of Paul Papp on the Columbiana - New Waterford Rd. The bees on this farm are owned by Clarence Seachrist, who will report on the Ohio State Beekeepers meeting.

Zone chairman D. C. Cannon presented 13 members with perfect attendance medals.

CONVICTED OF BRBES
CLEVELAND — A jury which deliberated a day-and-a-half yesterday convicted Edward Gordon, 38, of taking bribes last January when he was a policeman. A businessman testified he gave Gordon a total of $75 in installments of about $5 a week for not ticketing cars which were parked illegally by employees of the Allied Enterprises.

Rev. Karl Wilson of Minerva will speak on "How to Apply Religious and Moral Ideals to Everyday Living." Roger Stafford of Minerva RD 2, will preside.

3 Held In Minerva Picket Line Fight
CANTON, Ohio — A union newspaper editor and two other men were arrested yesterday in a picket line ruckus at the Liberty Bell Manufacturing Co. at nearby Minerva.

Cited on charges of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace were Tor Cedervall of Toledo and Dominic Ceola of Cleveland and Terry Boehm of Minerva. Cedervall is editor of Mesa, a newspaper put out by the Independent Mechanical Educational Society Union, which has been on strike at the plant for six weeks.

Police Chief Don McConahey of Minerva said a short fight developed when 30 cars were driven past the plant and parked across a nearby street in an effort to block workers as they left the company.

Only one man was injured enough to require medical attention.

The plant, which employed about 110 persons, manufactures door chimes and bells. It has continued to operate during the strike with about 20 workers reporting daily.

The union wants a payhike and other concessions, but details have not been announced.

Churchill

pan does not fall under the domination of the Soviets or into the hands of the Kremlin.

And, he said, Japan cannot live in the free world unless something is done to help her make her way. He suggested that Japan might go Communist if this country does not give her money and other help and the chance to trade not only with the West but with Red China as well.

Churchill and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden are due here Friday and will remain through Tuesday.

The trip was announced when it appeared the Geneva talks had failed, but evidence of the last few days indicating that an Indo-China peace might still be negotiated has created some uncertainty about the talks.

Talked With Premier
Smith, No. 2 man in the State Department, returned from Geneva yesterday. En route he saw French Premier Mendes-France. It was understood Smith returned with these impressions:

1. That the Geneva conference has demonstrated the Chinese Communists and the Russians alike have no intention of making any real concessions to obtain peace in Indo-China.

2. That Eden believes the time has come for Britain to follow a much firmer policy regarding the formation of a united front against communism in Southeast Asia.

3. That Mendes-France is determined to get peace in Indo-China if possible, but that he does not intend to surrender completely or settle for peace at any price.

Assistant To Farm Agent Still Sought
LISBON — Hopes that a full-time associate Columbiana County agricultural extension agent will be found by July 1 are fading.

Floyd Lower, county extension agent, said after Harry G. Smith resigned he expected to locate a replacement by July 1, but only two possible candidates have shown up. Smith left in May to become Harrison County farm agent.

In the meantime, Ralph Yeager of Columbiana is acting associate agent.

U. S. To Fly 500 French Vets Home
SAIGON, Indochina — The United States is going to fly 500 French soldiers, wounded in the battle of Dien Bien Phu, to France.

Announcing the mercy lift today, the U.S. embassy said it would be made in five flights beginning on Saturday.

Stops en route to Paris are to be made at Clark Field, 60 miles from Manila; Hickam Field in Hawaii; California, Newfoundland and Iceland.

The United States balked at a French request that the planes go via Asia and the Middle East. The United States objected to detouring around India, which refuses permission for military planes to fly over her territory.

GOP Chairman Sees Party Gain In Congress
ALBUQUERQUE — Leonard Hall, Republican national chairman, says the Republicans will "pick up seats in both houses of Congress" in November because of the "good economic prospects" of the nation.

"I think the American people are in favor of Eisenhower's program and will elect men to Congress who will support that program," Hall said last night in an interview.

He said Democrats saying they are in favor of the President's program still present "an almost solid phalanx" against it when Congress votes.
